

The child is holding a certificate that contains a small photograph of a child and several lines of text, likely a certificate of participation or achievement.

